Section 1: Profile Matrix

When you completed the REACH Profile Survey, you indicated preferences and tendencies for how you approach common circumstances (such as at work, home, or in the community). These preferences and tendencies combine to reveal four unique style profiles. Based on your responses to the REACH Profile Survey, your preferred style profile (meaning the one you tend to prefer in most situations) is best described as the: Advisor Profile.

The Advisor Profile is most commonly recognized as being:

- more Thinking-oriented than Acting-oriented meaning that you may be more methodical and thoughtful about achieving your goals (this is your Achievement Drive).
- more Task-focused than People-focused meaning that you may be more objective and reserved in how you relate with others (this is your Relational Drive).

Counselor Profile

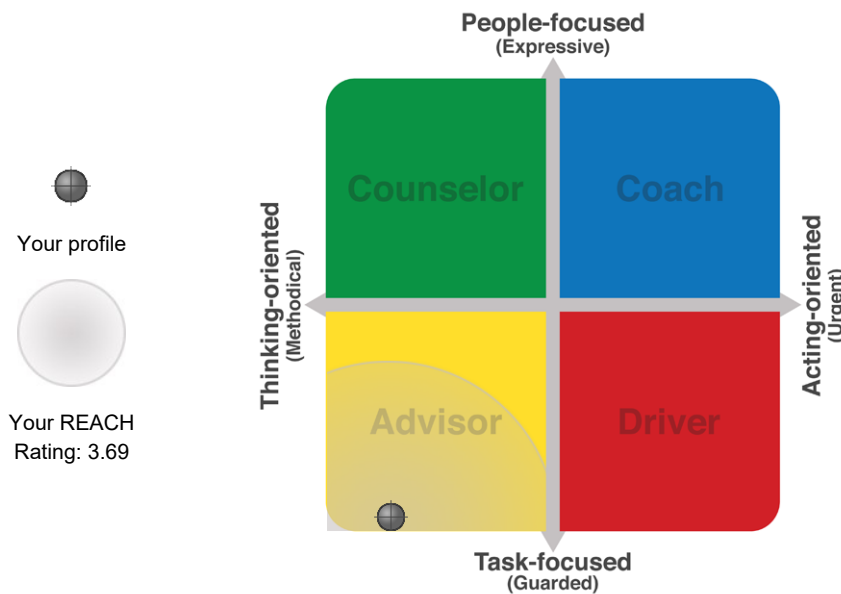

Counselors are best recognized for being: Thinking-oriented and People-focused. The key “markers” or behaviors of the Counselor Profile include:

- Focus nurturing
- Communicating with a warm, comforting style
- Conflict-handling by accommodating others’ views
- Decision-making that please or support others

Coach Profile

Coaches are best recognized for being: Acting-oriented and People-focused. The key “markers” or behaviors of the Coach Profile include:

- Focus networking
- Communicating with charisma, dynamic style
- Conflict-handling by collaborating on solutions
- Decision-making using gut instinct

Advisor Profile

Advisors are best recognized for being: Thinking-oriented and Task-focused. The key “markers” or behaviors of the Advisor Profile include:

- Focus knowing
- Communicating with a reserved, formal style
- Conflict-handling by identifying compromises
- Decision-making with careful analysis

Driver Profile

Drivers are best recognized for being: Acting-oriented and Task-focused. The key “markers” or behaviors of the Driver Profile include:

- Focus accomplishing
- Communicating with a focused, intense style
- Conflict-handling by directly confronting the issue
- Decision-making with decisive action

Section 2: Profile Interactions

Whether building rapport with strangers or discussing a challenging topic with a long-time associate, communication can be enhanced when you learn to “stretch” or mirror the other profiles. Although difficult early on, practice can make the stretching feel more natural over time – allowing you to recognize and interact with people from all four profiles with ease.

Interacting with the Counselor

Try to:

- Build genuine rapport
- Affirm what you hear
- Recognize personal interests

Avoid:

- Rushing the conversation
- Using an impersonal tone
- Overlooking emotional impact

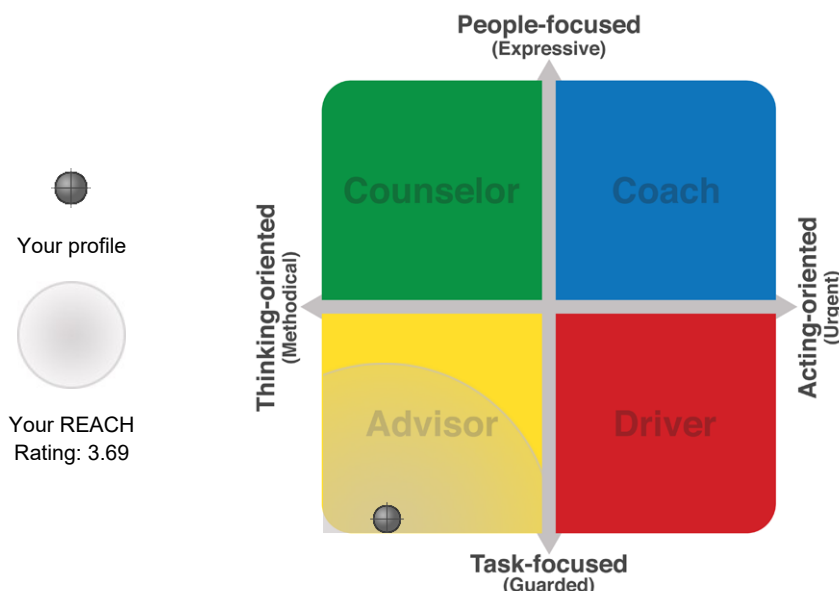

Interacting with the Coach

Try to:

- Focus on the big picture
- Emphasize impact on people
- Encourage brainstorming

Avoid:

- Sharing unnecessary details
- Limiting their feedback
- Using an impersonal tone

Interacting with the Advisor

Try to:

- Focus on the details
- Emphasize logic and rationale
- Draw out specific concerns

Avoid:

- Using emotional arguments
- Offering vague expectations
- Pushing for a conclusion

Interacting with the Driver

Try to:

- Focus on the bottom line
- Emphasize results
- Be clear and specific

Avoid:

- Forcing personal small-talk
- Controlling the conversation
- Challenging their position

Section 3: Profile Overview

Our personality drives how we approach people and tasks. This section provides practical observations regarding how your preferred profile influences specific behaviors.

Focus: Knowing

Advisors tend to enjoy developing expertise in themselves and others. As such, they may be most motivated when their efforts are focused on learning new things and then instructing others. Advisors tend to expect themselves and others to seek perfection in their work. So, where others may be looking only at the bottom line, the Advisor may be far more concerned with the incremental details and processes involved.

Communicating: Reserved

The Advisor's communication style is usually quite reserved and formal. The Advisor is typically reluctant to share personal information or experiences with others (outside of their close friends or family). The Advisor's primary mode is best described as "on task" and focused on providing instruction or guidance around processes and plans. When communicating within a group or team setting, they tend to convey a desire for privacy and formality.

Conflict-handling: Compromising

The Advisor is typically known for a reluctant approach to conflict. As their attention is mostly focused on maintaining an efficient work flow, the Advisor views conflict as something that must be avoided whenever possible. While others may tend to accommodate or even compete during conflict, the Advisor seeks to avoid it altogether and compromise where necessary. They tend to approach conflict objectively, and they are most concerned with minimizing any lingering disruptive impact on the group's performance.

Decision-making: Careful

The Advisor is typically known for taking careful action, while mitigating uncertainty and risk. The Advisor prefers to focus their efforts on establishing a detailed plan of attack before taking the first step. While others may be quick to act and then adjust course as the need arises, the Advisor tends to be very cautious and meticulous in their preparation. As such, they are more likely than others to value planning and analysis, and they are most comfortable addressing challenges in an objective and rational manner.

Potential Strengths

- Concerned for accuracy and efficiency
- Rule conscious
- Focused on practicality
- Consistent and reliable in their decisions
- Self-reliant
- Formal and professional in demeanor
- Objective and rational in decision-making
- Focused on task accomplishment

Potential Challenges

- Reluctant to act
- Frustrated by change
- Lacking in confidence
- Hesitant to explore unproven ideas
- Reluctant to offer feedback or ideas
- Uncomfortable in a highly collaborative environment
- Considered cold or harsh when under stress
- Viewed as impatient and uninterested with others

We hope this has been a valuable learning experience for you,
and that you continue your development journey.
